FRIDAY, AUGUST 18, 1899.

Ten additional regiments have been ordered by the war department, which will swell the army to 95,045 men. It is not at all improbable that our army will soon be on a footing with any of those of the great powers of Europe. McKinley has adopted a policy which renders absolutely necessary and indispensable a vast body of armed men ready at a moment's notice to grapple with our rivals in the field of conquest.

Since the employment of Mr. J. C. Kennett as manager of the dispensary here the question has arisen and is being discussed: "Is he not holding two offices?" Mr. Kennett is a member of the legislature, and it is contended by some that he will now have to resign. Speaking of this situation the Morning Post says:

"The dispensary is nothing more than a local police regulation governing and regulating the sale of liquors, and the profits thereof going to the municipality instead of a portion as heretofore, with the employment of suitable persons to conduct the business in the public's interest. The trustees, or whatever they may be called, who employed Mr. Kennett may come within the province of the law, as officers, but we cannot believe their employes will."

The Post just about covers the ground. All the powers regulating and governing the dispensary are vested in the board of directors, and Mr. Kennett is, as we understand it, subject to their official mandates, and receives his instructions from them.

The following excellent piece of satire is from the Norfolk Landmark. Its best we have seen.

Our special scout in the Philippines informs us by wireless cable that a fierce engagement took place at Whangdoodle, on the Manila turnpike, last Monday. The conflict lasted three nights and one day without intermission, and blood flowed furiously. The rebels, though completely routed by the impetuous ardor of our troops, put up a stubborn contest, disputing every inch of the way. They were rapidly forced back fully five miles, and would have been driven two miles further had not the hills been in the way. Gen. Slater's division, which started the battle, was exposed to a perfect inferno of bullets for four long hours, the enemy reinforcing their rifles with cannons loaded with wire nails and scrap iron. The victory, though so hard earned, is worth the price, as the town of Whangdoodle is one of the most important and flourishing in the neighborhood of Manila. There is very little of it left now, as the rebels burned it before retiring. Our troops lost one killed and four wounded, omitting those who suffered severe bruises. The rebel loss must have been several thousand.

Mr. H. A. London, editor of the Chatham Record, has the following to say with reference to the fact that a great many people have been urging him for the position of professor of law at the University:

The editor of the Record most highly appreciates the too flattering compliments paid him recently by so many of his brother editors and other esteemed friends in recommending him for the very distinguished position of professor of law at the University. Coming from such sources, and so utterly unexpectedly, such compliments are the more highly appreciated, and will ever be most gratefully prized. And yet it is proper to state that the subject of them has not had and does not have the slightest idea of either filling or even aspiring to that position. This much is said, even at the risk of being charged with declining what was not offered, because our silence might be misunderstood.

We know Mr. London and know that he would worthily fill the chair so long occupied by Dr. Manning and later by Judge Shepherd. We hope the friends of Mr. London will not let his card deter them, and that he will be elected to the position. The honors of the place could not be more worthily bestowed, and its duties could not be in safer hands. Mr. London is not an aspirant. Then let the place seek him. When the office seeks the man there is apt to be a more perfect fit anyway.

Thomas B. Reed, who returned to this country a few days since from his European trip, it is said will not resign his seat in congress. It is stated also that the president, by reason of this fact, has been seized with uneasiness, being aware of the fact that Reed is the ablest man in the republican party and that he is an anti-imperialist. The father of imperialism is most likely to encounter a very serious hindrance to his Philippine policy in the "ex-ecar."

GOOD FOR THE SOUTH.

The Great Advance in the Prices of Steel and Iron.

The recent great advances in the prices of iron and steel means much for the south. Never before was the demand for these materials so great, and it is likely to increase rather than diminish because of the industrial development of Japan, China, the Central and South American countries and others.

The greater nations are also using more iron and steel than ever before. Great Britain and Ireland alone will turn out this year at least 2,000,000 tons of new mercantile vessels, and the British warships already begun or to be begun this year will have a displacement of 5,000 tons. The great railway schemes of Russia in Siberia, of England in Africa, and of the Australian government will involve the construction of 20,000 miles of railroad, or more. There will be a large increase of railroad mileage in this country and in Europe.

We may therefore expect that the production of steel and iron, which last year surpassed all records, will be even greater this year. The world's production of pig iron in 1894 is put at 34,000,000 tons, about 2,500,000 more than 1897. The United States is the greatest producer of iron and steel and contributed more than any other nation to the increase of last year's product. There is no danger that this country will fall back in this great industry, and the south which produces iron more cheaply than any other region of the world, will increase its proportion of the product of the whole country.

James P. Withroe, of Pittsburg, in the last number of the Manufacturer's Record, shows how the iron industry of the south has advanced and reached out into all parts of the world.

Mr. Withroe attributes the rapid rise of this industry in the south to the business depression which began in 1893, and continued several years. It is a rather surprising statement, but Mr. Withroe gives strong reasons to sustain it. He says that on the advance of the panic the southern iron makers "at once began to reduce their cost of production by improving their plants, making a superior coke and forcing their management to a higher and better practice, resulting in the lowest cost of production which has ever been attained in any part of the world. In addition thereto, when the southern ironmasters found that their northern market was blocked or limited, they hesitated not, but at once concluded on a new departure in the iron and steel business of America, which was destined to be the pioneer and forerunner of the mighty future of America's supremacy, viz., the exportation of American iron to the very centers of European trade. At first the presumption only amused the British and continental markets, and they had no thought of it having any commercial importance; but when the southern men persisted in their shipments and they began to feel their force they undertook by every pretext that ingenuity and selfishness could devise to drive them out, underrating the quality of southern pig metal as unfit for their requirements. But all in vain; the south had made a good commencement, established a new departure and was determined to maintain it at all hazards. This was the beginning of our iron and steel export trade over which all Americans are rejoicing, the glory and credit of which belong to the south. Thus the southern iron industry held its position against all odds."

This is a high but deserved tribute to the south, and the south will go steadily forward in the greatest of all industries, for in it she has advantages over all competitors.—Atlanta Journal.

Is It Right for an Editor to Recommend Patent Medicines?

From Sylvan Valley News, Brevard N. C.

It may be a question whether the editor of a newspaper has the right to publicly recommend any of the various proprietary medicines which flood the market, yet as a preventive of suffering we feel it a duty to say a good word for Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. We have known and used this remedy in our family for twenty years and have always found it reliable. In many cases a dose of this remedy would save hours of suffering while a physician is awaited. We do not believe in depending implicitly on any medicine for a cure, but we do believe that if a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy were kept on hand and administered at the inception of an attack much suffering might be avoided and in very many cases the presence of a physician would not be required. At least this has been our experience during the past twenty years. For sale by C. E. Holton, druggist.

"I like to hear a servant girl sing at her work. It shows a good disposition. 'Not always. I think our sings because she has a grudge against us.'"

Nell—"What in the world induced Mame to throw herself at that fellow?" Belle—"Oh! he was considered a good catch."

Kodol Dyspsia Cure cures dyspepsia because its ingredients are such that it can't help doing so. "The public can rely upon it as a master remedy for all disorders arising from imperfect digestion."—James M. Thomas, M. D.; in American Journal of Health, N. Y. Howard Gardner.

"Here's something for the good of the caves," remarked the crow as he noted the farmer planting his season's corn.

No Cure—No Pay.

That is the way all druggists sell Grove's Tasteless Chill Tonic for Chills and Malaria. It is simply iron and quinine in a tasteless form. Children love it. Adults prefer it to bitter, nauseating tonics. Price, 50c.

The gardener is generally a seedy individual.

Irritating stings, bites, scratches, wounds and cuts soothed and healed by DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve—a sure and safe application for tortured flesh. Beware of counterfeits. Howard Gardner.

It's funny that nobody pores over a very dry book.

You assume no risk when you buy Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. C. E. Holton will refund your money if you are not satisfied after using it. It is every where admitted to be the most successful remedy in use for bowel complaint and the only one that never fails. It is pleasant, safe and sellable.

When a musician comes across a good idea it's only natural he should make a note of it.

Hamilton Clarke, of Chauncy, Ga., says he suffered with itching piles twenty years before trying DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve, two boxes of which completely cured him. Beware of worthless and dangerous counterfeits. Howard Gardner.

$535,000,000 Cotton Mill Combine.

Fall River, August 15.—The indications in mill circles point to a formation of a cotton mill combine with its financial end in New York, which will absorb $5,000,000 of Fall River manufacturing property. Through that means all the Fall River mills are to be brought under one general management. This would effect a saving, it is thought, of a million a year.

Catarrh is Not Incurable

But it can not be cured by sprays, washes and inhaling mixtures which reach only the surface. The disease is in the blood, and can only be reached through the blood. S. S. S. is the only remedy which can have any effect upon Catarrh; it cures the disease permanently and forever rids the system of every trace of the vile complaint.

Miss Jessie Owen, of Montpelier, Ohio, writes: "I was afflicted from infancy with Catarrh, and no one can know the suffering it produces better than I. The sprays and washes prescribed by the doctors relieved me only temporarily, and though I used them constantly for ten years, the disease had a firmer hold than ever. I tried a number of blood remedies, but their mineral ingredients settled in my bones and gave me rheumatism. I was in a lamentable condition, and after exhausting all treatment, was declared incurable. Seeing S. S. S. advertised as a cure for blood disease, I decided to try it. As soon as my system was under the effect of the medicine, I began to improve, and after taking it for two months I was cured completely, the dreadful disease was eradicated from my system, and I have had no return of it."

Many have been taking local treatment for years, and find themselves worse now than ever. A trial of casional mention. It is hoped that this is permanent.

Capt. John Tally, formerly a con-

CONVICT PARDONED.

Wesley Thompson, Colored, Served
Three Years for Nothing.
A few days ago Wesley Thompson, colored, who has been serving on the Guilford county chain-gang for three years, engaged Judge Spencer B. Adams to make an effort to secure a pardon for him. Wesley was convicted three years ago of larceny and was sentenced to five years at road building. After a long time James Murphy who really committed the crime and upon whose evidence Thompson was convicted, made a sworn afdavit to the effect that he committed perjury when he implicated Thompson, hoping thereby to get a lighter sentence imposed upon himself.
With this affidavit Judge Adams went to work with a twinkle in his eye and soon had the autographs of a large number of prominent citizens as the tail end of a petition for the pardon of Thompson. He went to Baldwin yesterday and presented both affidavit and petition to the governor who at once signed the paper authorizing Sheriff Gilmer to give Thompson his liberty. And Thompson is now a happy negro, not grieving much over serving three years for nothing.
